NC State University's Required Training for Managers

Management Essentials

WHY? NC State University is committed to investing in and developing our managers and supervisors with the foundational knowledge, tools and resources needed to be effective in their roles.

WHAT? Required, 2-Day training program covering topics such as leadership, roles and expectations, managing performance, productivity, teams, change, workplace operations and more!

HOW? Highly interactive, in-person training using scenarios and discussions to address campus challenges.

WHO? Supervisors and Managers with Direct Reports in non-faculty roles (phase 1)

WHEN? Registration opens at the end of August, first classes beginning in October and running through 2018. Multiple classes per month.

WHERE? Convenient locations across campus (Talley, Hunt, Joyner) and on-site locations for managers not located on campus and those working other shifts.
